Veridian is pleased to recognize its business customers that achieved outstanding electricity conservation results in 2011. These customers were leading participants in Veridian's energy efficiency and demand management programs during the year. They have all exhibited a strong commitment to energy conservation, while benefitting from valuable financial incentives and reduced operating costs.

Our saveonenergy^{OM} programs are good for our community, the environment and your bottom line!

There are energy-efficiency programs to assist organizations from the smallest of retail stores to the largest industrial complexes.

Programs to help fund energy audits, replace energy-wasting equipment, pursue new construction that exceeds existing codes and standards, and incentives for controlling and reducing electricity demand during specific times are available.

Contact Veridian to learn how these innovative programs can help your business reduce electricity costs while helping Ontario reduce its environmental footprint.
